

Experimental report of experiment 25-01-859

The experiment was not performed. Long before the experiment were scheduled, the user (me) had reported that around that time a relative would get married and he had requested vacations and the beamline scientist/supervisor/boss had agreed. Later, for unknown reasons to me, the beamline scientist scheduled the experiment 25-01-859 in such dates, knowing that I would not be there most of the time. The few shifts that I was in the line were useless due to technical problems, I could not even measure one single standard foil.
