

Depth resolved EXAFS experiments on ion-exchanged

Unfortunately, due to serious problems with the monochromator motor, all shifts were lost and this experiment had to be postponed to the next scheduling period, in full understanding and agreement between the beamline scientist and the users.